ANALYSIS

Here it is...the last Top 40 chart for 1984. Underlines are intended to reflect projected growth into the first part of next year. As in years past, it is more difficult to gauge a record's progress at this time of year due to a fluctuation in station reports which in turn inflate or deflate the chart and airplay stats. Though some of the bigger hits not underlined will no doubt sustain through the holidays, they have peaked on a national level. MADONNA should close out the year at number one with no problem, but expect a new song at the top when we resume publication in January (FOREIGNER and BAILEY/COLLINS are strong contenders right now). BILLY OCEAN is headed toward his second top ten ranking. Just think, if last week's "Record To Watch" TEENA MARIE, gets on the Top 40 next year, we'll have a "Loverboy" and a "Lovergirl" in the chart together for the first time. Only two weeks with a number and WHAM! is already number 15 with a "Hit Factor" of 18%. POINTER SISTERS, off to a great start, is getting an extra added push from the huge success of "Beverly Hills Cop" and that nine point jump could've been even bigger. For the first time in recent Gavin history, a record has achieved top airplay status for two consecutive weeks. JOHN FOGERTY pulls top honors in the "Most Added" category again with WBLI, WJJB, WSPK, WPRO, BJ105, WHHY, KAFM, KRQ, KSAQ, B-94, KYNO, KREO, KIIS/FM, KDON, KYYY, WIFC and WLOL - just a few of the new believers. Request activity has been reported to be heavy, especially males 18+. Radio has responded to the BAND AID project and judging by their numbers the audience has also...debuts at #12 at KIIS/FM, #6-WPLJ, #20 at Y100, #1 KZZB, #3 WCIL, #5 WRKR, etc. Good gains on GENERAL PUBLIC, with heaviest chart action still on the West Coast, however. "Record To Watch" by JULIE BROWN has been around before, but now newly marketed by the Rhino label. GUY ZAPOLEON, now at KZZP-Phoenix, reports the record was a big sales/request winner at B94-Pittsburgh and is now doing the very same thing way across the country in a totally different market. If you need a reaction record on the air, this is it. JOHN PARR's "Naughty Naughty" is a sleeper that's been growing steadily over the past few weeks. 19 adds and a "Hit Factor" of 4% make it a strong possibility for the first "Record To Watch" of 1985. HAPPY HOLIDAYS to all of you and may all your numbers be bigger in the year to come.

Dave

DAVE'S PLACE

All of us at The Gavin Report are saddened to learn of the untimely death of programmer/consultant LEE MICHAELS, associate in the Atlanta based firm of Burkhart/Abrams/Michaels/Douglas. Word at press time is that Lee was involved in a fatal traffic accident. Our sincere condolences to Lee's family and friends.

After two years in D.C., WASH P.D. BILL TANNER and his longtime assistant COLLEEN CASSIDY have resigned. Speculation is that Bill and Colleen plan to return to Miami, but just where they'll settle isn't an easy question to answer. Kid Curry has been named acting P.D. until a replacement is named.

KRLA has named former KHTZ-L.A. and KBZT-San Diego programmer MIKE WAGNER to the P.D. post. Signed on to do PM drive is Top 40 legend, the Real Don Steele, kingpin of the 60's and 70's at KHJ and last at the old 10Q. I'm sure our rambling Hollywood correspondent, Tony Richland, will keep us informed of his whereabouts.

KFRC-San Francisco has named STEPHANIE McCORMICK Music Director, replacing LANETTE ABRAHAM, who has departed for New York's WAPP. Stephanie was formerly Administrative Assistant at R&B formatted KBLX.

ELTON JOHN:

Who wears this suit? Elton as Father Christmas.

Off The Road and Ready for '85

by Ron Fell

The coverboy for our Christmas issue this year is none other than Elton John! Elton's finally off the road and like a lot of us, is hoping to settle down for the Holidays. We caught up with him in Paris for the following trans-oceanic telephone interview.

RF: How is this Christmas going to be different for Elton John in 1984?
EJ: I'm spending Christmas with my wife, having some time off. Usually I've been working over Christmas the last two or three years. I'll have the time to spend at home and have a quiet family Christmas.
RF: Where is home for you?
EJ: Old Windsor in England. That's about two miles from Windsor Castle, about twenty miles out of London.
RF: You've spent a good deal of time this year on the road.
EJ: (Laughter) A good deal of time, yes.
RF: There had been quite a lot of talk that this was your last tour.
EJ: It's my last tour of that proportion. I will not tour for the length of ten to twelve months again. No way. But it's no way going to be my last concert. I will never do a tour like that again. I've been touring since last October, over twelve months. I'll always perform, but I will only perform in bouts of two or three weeks.
RF: It must be nice to be in a position of not having to be out on the road 300 days out of the year.
EJ: I enjoy playing. One of the attractions of my career is that I've always put on a pretty good live show. For me, the most exciting thing is to play. To record is like doing an examination but to play is a one-off every night. The only danger is that when you do a tour for 15 months, there's a danger of getting stale and grinding yourself into the ground. Thankfully, it all came out alright in the end. I would miss playing live if I didn't tour.
RF: Are you going to re-prioritize your time?
EJ: Bernie (Taupin) and I have always wanted to write a musical. Not particularly a rock and roll musical, something along the lines of a WEST SIDE STORY. I'm talking about old-fashioned type songs. We've really got to take the time out to do that. I'd like to do a couple of movies. That's in the air. Plus, I'm going to the studio to do some singles. I'm looking forward to recording, actually, because I haven't written for so long. This year (1985), I have no specific plans, but I'm sure it'll piece itself together.

RF: How has the music business changed in your eyes over the last fifteen years?

EJ: When I retired in 1976, I thought I'd sold a lot of records. Then came Fleetwood Mac, Peter Frampton, and Saturday Night Fever. Suddenly album sales were colossal. Then that bubble sort of burst. To sell a lot of records now, you have to have a lot of hit singles on it. That never used to be the case. The single was important, but the Elton John album only had one single from it. Tumbleweed Connection never had a single at all. These days it's really important to have a hit single. There's a danger in that. You go into the studio and you have to write hits. Bernie and I were never really good at that . . . as far as deliberately trying to write something. The only thing that we ever wrote that was a hit, that we sat down and tried to make a single was "Philadelphia Freedom." So I just make albums and I've got NOT A CLUE what singles are which. I used to have some inkling. Now I have no idea so we leave it to the record company. But the single is so important. It's taken the edge off of the album market, in a way. In 1970, I could buy twelve or thirteen albums a week and they'd be good albums. Now, to get an album that's good all the way through, it's very rare.

"To record is like doing an examination, but to play is a one-off every night."

RF: BREAKING HEARTS, from a singles standpoint, has been one of your most successful albums.

EJ: Yeah . . . but again, I have no idea which are singles. "Sad Songs"—one had an inkling. "I'm Still Standing"—I had no idea that was going to be a hit, or "Who Wears These Shoes." I always used to have a say on singles. I think it's best now that I don't. (laughter)

RF: What do you think of the younger bands that are the current rage right now? Bands like Frankie Goes To Hollywood, Duran Duran, and Prince.

EJ: They're great. I've been a fan of Prince since his first album. Sometimes you sell a lot of records with maybe not your best album. I didn't think Purple Rain was his best album. I really like the new bands that are happening. I haven't seen any of them live because I haven't had time. But this week I'm going to see Culture Club, Wham! and Nik Kershaw—people like that. Just to have a look. I like their records very much. It's very easy to assess their careers since they've only each made two or three albums. I think that the bands or artists that will always last are the ones who can perform well onstage, because even if your records suffer a slump, you can sell out concerts. We've always been lucky at selling out concerts. If a band wants to last, it's got to have good material: A) the songs have got to be there, and B) the performance has got to be there, too. Good luck to them all. I especially like Wham! My favorite single was "Wake Me Up Before You Go-Go." It's the nearest anyone has ever come to making an old Motown track. I'll feel like an old grandfather when I meet them all.

RF: Have you heard the Band Aid record?

EJ: Yes, I did. That's a great idea. Unfortunately I wasn't on it. I was on the QE 2 (the Queen Elizabeth the Second ocean liner) at the time. I've done some promotion for it. For something that's so hastily put together, the idea's great and it came off! Sometimes one-off things work. You record them in a day, sometimes that's the best way—a rush release. I remember John Lennon saying once, "If you could record an album in a day and have it released the next day, how wonderful it would be." The only drag in recording is when you record an album, you have to wait for the process of it to come out. Quite honestly, by that time, you're onto pastures new already. We never had a problem in the old days because by the time the album was out, we were in the studio doing the next one. I shudder to think of all the product we put out. I can't figure out how we did it and survived.

RF: So nowadays, do you have some breathing room?

EJ: Bernie's coming over in January and we're going to write, maybe do a couple of one-off singles—I have no idea with who. I'm going to use (producer) Chris Thomas, hopefully, to do the album. I'm going to just have fun. I always used to make separate singles in the midst of albums. I want to write, but I have no idea what direction it's going to go—and I'm quite happy with that!

RF: If Elton John could have one Christmas wish granted, what would it be?

EJ: No more suffering in the world. That's what the season's about, isn't it? Peace and good will to all. The fact that it could happen would be wonderful.■

This time, Elton wants to cut singles separate from his next LP release.

HOLIDAY PROMOTIONS

BETTY HOLLARS
LISA SMITH

CHRISTMAS WISHES GRANTED

If you walked into a TRUE VALUE HARDWARE STORE in CHICAGO, IL and saw a color poster of WLS-CHICAGO's air personality LARRY LUJACK dressed up in a Santa Claus "Superjock" outfit, would you enter their contest? WLS listeners are encouraged to stop by any of these stores and write down their "Christmas Wish" in 25 words or less on an entry blank. A randomly selected "wish" will be read on the air each weekday of 4 weeks and that lucky person will have 30 minutes to call and claim their "wish" money of $1,000 in holiday cash.

DIALING SMILES FOR KIDS

WBCY-CHARLOTTE, NC's JEFF WICKER is doing something a bit unusual to raise money for children this holiday season. JEFF will attempt to make a telephone call from every phone booth in Charlotte. This stunt will begin on a Thursday morning at 6AM and finish on the following Saturday night at 6PM—60 consecutive hours of dialing. Anyone who sends in the location of a phone booth, a pledge, or a donation will be put into a drawing for a grand prize. All monies received will go to the Salvation Army Christmas Fund.

HOUNDDAWG'S HOLIDAY HANG-UP

From December 6-8, WABB/FM-MOBILE air personality DENNIS "HOUNDDAWG" STACY was locked in a Winnebago suspended thirty feet in the air in front of a local mall. He refused to be released until 50,000 pounds of food was collected for the local food bank. DENNIS broadcast his show live from the Winnebago, and various prizes were given to people bringing in large amounts of food to help feed the needy this holiday season.

FREE MUSIC

WFMI-LEXINGTON, KY is giving away 100 albums a day every day for the ten days before Christmas. CHIP MOSLEY tells us that they've been saving albums for at least six months for this promotion, and planned it around the station's call letters ... Win Free Music Instantly.

HAMMING IT UP

WAXY/FM-FT. LAUDERDALE air personality GREG BUDELL gives listeners the opportunity to "Ham It Up" for the holidays on his morning shows. Contestants who "Ham It Up" by singing a song or telling a joke on the air will win a canned ham just in time for the holidays. Daily winners are also eligible for the grand prize of a round trip for two anywhere in the United States.

A DECEMBER TO REMEMBER

KMEL-SAN FRANCISCO Program Director NICK BAZOO recently announced that KMEL will be giving away one Video Cassette Recorder every weekday for the month of December, along with the videocassette of PRINCE's film "Purple Rain." Listeners will be told what hour and what song to listen for that day. When the song is played, the 106th caller wins. MR. BAZOO adds, "We hope to make it a December to remember for all of our listeners."

DON'T LIFT A FINGER

WUVU-St. AUGUSTINE, FL. ran a promotion called "The Bird You Don't Have To Lift A Finger For." According to Randy Marsh, PD of the station, listeners heard the "View-Zoo Turkey Gobble" and had 5 minutes to call in to win a free turkey dinner with all the trimmings (turkey, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, green beans, stuffing, yams, pumpkin pie). The station had the dinner catered, including the serving plates, silverware, glasses, and the winners didn't even have to do their own dishes.

HAM FOR THE HOLIDAYS

There's no place like ham for the holidays? ... close, but not quite. STEVEN B. & the HAWK at KPKE-DENVER decided that ham for the holidays was as close as some of their audience was going to get to home, so they asked their listeners to send in postcards with the times they listened to the morning show. Cards were selected at random and calls placed to their respective owners. If the phone was answered with an oink or other similar pig noise, the listener won a smoked ham. While STEVEN B. & the HAWK couldn't send everyone home for Christmas, they did make sure many of them had a ham in their pot and a turkey on their phone!

P.D. NOTEBOOK by Eric Norberg

It's fascinating to reflect that at this time last year, a headline like that—and they were common—carried implications of foreboding. Ever since the novel of that title had hit print some decades ago, 1984 had stood as a symbol of an era of state control over the individual, Big Brother, and a lot of general unpleasantness. This, despite the obvious fact that these things don't suddenly happen when a calendar page is turned! 1984 turned out to be more or less the way it had to be: an evolution of what was afoot in 1983. Now the headline "1984" simply stands for a retrospective, and shortly we'll be trying to remember to write the year 1985 on our checks and letters.

The silicon chip once again had the greatest influence on the broadcast industry. Not only through the continued growth in the use of computers in various forms throughout the broadcast medium, but through subtler means. Increasingly, radio receivers are becoming digitalized, with phase-locked-loops for tuning accuracy, frequency synthesization for direct-access tuning, and digital displays to show what frequency we've tuned. Amazingly, only a few stations have yet responded as I've urged in two different columns in years past, to give the real frequency they operate on instead of a simplified one. "K-15" won't get you the AM station on 1530—"Rock 104" won't get you the FM station that really is at 104.3 (or 103.7)—when you have to punch the correct frequency into a keyboard, or even when you have to tune a "scanning" car radio by holding in a button till you get the right station. If stations do not respond to the increasing "digital sophistication" of the listener, they risk losing some audience to the stations that do give listeners frequency numbers that correspond to where their radio tells them the station is! The problem never has been whether the great unwashed public is mentally able to remember four numbers and perhaps a decimal point; it is whether their station makes them care enough about it to make the effort to remember it.

The epitome of the result of this problem surely was the decision in January for a major market FM station, KUPL-FM in Portland, Oregon, to change format from Bonneville "beautiful music" to a "more music" form of Country just as the station reached its highest rating ever: #1 12+, on its FM station alone, without adding the ratings for its AM station! Format hopping has become a way of life, and nothing illustrates it better than a station abandoning the #1 position for what it hopes will be greener pastures!! (The ratings dropped.)

For FM stations across the country, regardless of format, the spectacular success of WHTZ and KIIS in New York and Los Angeles respectively, with personality-based Top 40, has got to be an exciting development. Teens have not developed strong perceptual differences between the type of radio AM and FM represent in terms of blandness, texture, etc. While adults use radio for specific purposes of accompaniment, teens tend to use it entirely as a means to keeping constantly in touch with their own newly-invented culture, so personality, production values, etc., are irrelevant to their "radio band" expectations. FM is perceived as hip, and AM is not, but in the end they choose the station that relates to them best, regardless of its production values. Thus these personality stations may, through their success, alter adult perceptions of what to expect on FM in a manner that will benefit stations striving to be more interesting.

Inasmuch as,up til now, AM's chief advantage over FM has been that it's the band where adult listeners have been that it is the band where energy level, personality, production values and contrast are to be expected, this turn of events could be seen as another setback. But if the truth be told, this is a chief advantage that AM has almost completely overlooked. Today's adult wants from AM what AM gave him or her when they were growing up, which is energy, excitement, relevance. AM today has been so busy trying to copy what seems to work for FM—blandness—that the only real successes on the senior band have been in nostalgia and in talk, two specialized formats that are not noted for energy, or excitement, or even a whole lot of relevance. Lately even the most successful of the nostalgia/big band formats, "Music Of Your Life," has seen substantial station defections in the wake of declining ratings, and talk has never proven to be the panacea that some AM gurus are still proclaiming it to be. The mathematics of it still remain: less than 20% of the audience listens to talk radio; over 50% of the stations in the United States are on AM. Not only is talk the most expensive of AM formats, but it has little potential as a mass format! It can support one or two stations in sizable markets; and that's about it. The future of AM must be in music, if AM has a future, because that is where the audience is.

1984 has been a year in which many have pointed out in print that better sound won't bring people back to AM; better programming will. Well, that's not quite right. Better sound can bring them back, out of curiosity if nothing else, but only better programming can hold them. I continue to believe that the band with the most opportunity at present is AM; the stations are cheaper to buy for what you're getting, while FM's are in demand and are overpriced. AM is a band today's adult is at least familiar with (although today is critical for AM: Tomorrow's adult will have grown up with nothing but FM, and wooing that listener will take much more work than is needed now). And the competition on the AM band tends to be pretty lousy, both because of the attempt to copy FM and because of the economics of AM being so bad that cost-cutting has reduced further the quality of what is presented . . . so AM stations that give the AM listener what they seek from the band will establish a much clearer dominance than FM's seems able to build in that extremely competitive marketplace at present.

Quality sound is a real starting point for AM, and every AM station should be installing stereo transmission equipment. Even talk stations. Even stations feeding mono to the transmitter and not finding themselves able to rebuild the studios in stereo at present can install an Orban stereo synthesizer at the transmitter to create a spatial effect (the device costs less than $500), and feed that to the stereo generator.,

The problem has been availablity of receivers, but with the superb Sony multisystem stereoSRF A-100 portable widely available, and the increasing availability of AM stereo capability in car radios and apparently soon in stereo home receivers, it is up to AM broadcasters now to seize this opportunity of attracting new listeners with audio quality and programming.

A reminder that the P. D. Notebook welcomes your comments. If you'd like to see them in print be sure to mention that when you write. Write c/o The Gavin Report or to Consolidated Communications Consultant, Suite 209, 2130 Huntington Drive, So. Pasadena, CA 91030.

Happy New Year!

ANALYSIS

December 21, 1984

This may not be the chart we were lookin' for to carry through the Holiday void (only half of the top ten are lined.) It's that group from #11 - #16 that will take up the slack in high rotation by year's end. Even though the faucet has nearly been turned off since Thanksgiving, A/C's have still found plenty to add. Twenty-five percent of the records on page 15 are one or two weeks new. Next issue's debuts should include Hall & Oates and Danny O'Keefe and three others to be named later.

Remember, next station reporting days are January 7th or 8th.

Have a Happy & Safe Holiday Season!

Ron & Diane

ALL RADIO LISTENERS EVERYWHERE: An AM drive show where the jock doesn't kid with the newslady.
ROSEMARY: (Mrs. Tony) RICHLAND: A sympathy card.
And to all of you, who for some inexplicable reason, have reached this part of the page . . . a toast to your health and to that of your families and our most sincere wishes for a most joyous holiday season to you all. ■

Several weeks ago there appeared in this space a list of forty or so defunct record companies . . . or at least we presumed them to be defunct. Due to a typing error (mine, not the crack Gavin crew,) we included GRP Records in this list. Obviously GRP Records is hardly defunct . . . in fact they are very much FUNCT, with loads of records on the charts. For pointing out this fact we thank Kevin McDonald, who was most gracious in his call to us. Well, let's say SEMI-gracious, as he stated that we either print a retraction or look forward to spending New Years Eve in the trunk of our Cutlass. JUST KIDDING! . . . and a special holiday greeting and apology to the good folks at GRP and to eagle-eyed KEVIN.
We were wondering who our readership was . . . and now we know: It's Kevin McDonald!

BIO FEEDBACK

THE GAP BAND
Prior to the beginning of their recording career they spent time as back-up musicians for Leon Russell.

STEVIE WONDER
He signed to Berry Gordy's Tamla Records at the age of ten in 1961.

MTUME
James Mtume is the son of jazz great Jimmy Heath.

TOTO
Guitarist Steve Lukather picked up a Grammy as a songwriter for George Benson's "Turn Your Love Around."

DIANA ROSS
The last gig with the Supremes came on January 15, 1970 at the Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas. Her first single after leaving the group was "Reach Out and Touch".

Ray Stevens
Ray Stevens did not write "Mississippi Squirrel Revival." Buddy Kalb, who works for Ford Motor Co., Kansas City, is a part-time song writer and wrote this song two years ago. He also wrote Charley Pride's hit "Night Games," and Chet Atkins' "Frog Kissin'."

Wham!
The band had to postpone dates on their current European Tour when George Michael fell and hurt his back.

Paul McCartney
You'd think the neighbors would have appreciated Paul's use of fireworks in his video for "No More Lonely Nights." Paul however angered the London neighborhood by setting off fireworks after midnight.

Morris Day
He has signed with 20th Century Fox for three films.

Barbara Mandrell
On Christmas Day Barbara will be 36 years old.

Ray Parker Jr.
At the age of 14 he was playing guitar in a Detroit studio for Marvin Gaye.

JOHN FOGERTY/CCR
The last Creedence Clearwater Revival album, Mardi Gras, was released in 1972.

JOHN CONLEE
Prior to making it in Country Music, John had worked as both a mortician and a rock 'n' roll D.J.

ELVIS PRESLEY
On January 8th Elvis would have been 50 years of age.

'Twas the night before pressday and all through the office, the phones were ringing like crazy, the computers were beeping at each other, and the music has finally stopped coming out. So, as always, we head for the storage shelf that holds all of the best albums of '84 to play some records for the Boys In The Bunker. On TWILLEY, on REM, on THE THE. These are the sounds that almost distinguished 1984 from all the other years. In an ironic Orwellian way, technology finally caught up with us at THE GAVIN REPORT. Through all the advantages and frustrations of being part of a collectively run operation, technology roared through all the red tape affecting everyone here like no one here has been affected before. CD's, GRIP, ENTER, CPU, PERMSAVE... are all relevant buzz words--but certainly not dominant buzz words, at least when it comes to ARTISTS and MUSIC. The direction of THE GAVIN REPORT has changed in that we're now able to supplement and balance our charts and hardcore programming information with a special viewpoint from the artist. As the saying goes, "sometimes all you have to do is ask", which is what we've started to do. JANUARY promises to be a great start as far as dialogue between THE GAVIN REPORT (representig six formats of music radio) and THE PERFORMING ARTIST, who supplies us all with the vital ingredient we all constantly crave--the sight and sound of music. 1985 will see the growth of the GAVIN ALBUM/ALTERNATIVE section. We already have a list of new target stations that'll add towards our ultimate goal of becoming the indicator alternative to prechewed, overenthusiatic, hype-oriented industry yahoo. I said ultimate goal, mind you, because the road is still quite long before PETER and I are anywhere near satisfied. Still you can't help feeling a twinge when one of our future JANUARY COVERBOYS leafs through a recent GAVIN and says, "This sure isn't the GAVIN REPORT I remember." We certainly do appreciate your support. Without you, dear reader, it would all be for naught. You can stack all the computers end on end and walk across an ocean holding miles and reams of statistical data, but it don't mean a thing if it ain't got that swing. I give you my word that it'll always swing. HAPPY HOLIDAYS, dear reader, and STAY COOL. Talk to you the week of JAN 7. KZ.....

Another close race for number one with XTC squeezing in once again. Although GENERAL PUBLIC didn't move up, the record is still showing potential for further growth. The REPLACEMENTS resurgence the past few weeks is for real, making bold gains into the top five and still growing. All three records are the most powerful in the format bringing them into the POWER TRIO.

LOS LOBOS threatened to enter the POWER TRIO but was just edged out.

LAURIE ANDERSON, should easily slide into the top 10 after the first of the year with the four-album set from which there is plenty to choose.

Our CERTIFIED, THE SMITHS 12", "How Soon Is Now", is receiving outstanding response - particularly for a 12 inch. It will be a feat to carry the momentum beyond the two week break. This record has the quality to meet the challenge.

Just a thought; even though most commercial stations are on it, shouldn't Alternative Radio be playing the Band Aid record and helping benefit a vital cause?

Have a fun and safe holiday. We will begin taking reports again on Monday Jan. 7th. Thank you for helping make this a big year for Alternative Action. 1985 should prove itself as another important turning point for A.A. Stay tuned because we've got a few surprises in store...

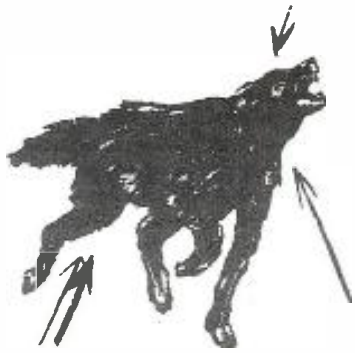
LOS LOBOS: AN AMERICAN BAND

by Kent/Keith Zimmerman



"My Grammy is actually on my mom's TV set right next to my little sister's graduation picture. How many moms in East L.A. can have a Grammy on their TV sets? Conrad broke his, but I think he soldered it or took it down to the local iron works."

Songwriter and drummer Louie Perez revealed quite a bit about Los Lobos with just that one statement. The more he talked, the more the legend of the wolves unraveled. They are part of a growing legion of North American bands who are making a creative splash in the eighties, much the same way acts like Todd Rundgren, Little Feat, Jackson Browne, Ry Cooder, and the early Eagles penetrated the seventies. Los Lobos, along with leaders like REM, Rickie Lee Jones, X, T. Bone Burnett, The Blasters, and Bruce Cockburn have given North America a strong, creative shove that will push the 1980's away from total European domination usually based on video fashion and teen oriented sex appeal.

The original core quartet that started out as Los Lobos consisted of guitarist David Hildago, bassist Conrad Lozano, guitarist Cesar Rosas and drummer Perez. Saxophonist Steve Berlin became the most recent full-fledged Lobo after his previous band, The Blasters, took a more guitared rock 'n' roll direction. Lobo lead vocals are shared by Hildago (whose sweeter voice graces the title track) and Rosas, whose graveled vocals appear on "Don't Worry Baby."

All but Berlin grew up in the same general area of East Los Angeles, known for its Chicano population. In East L.A., bands aren't usually expected to be the subject of rave reviews and affection inside the revered pages of the Los Angeles Times.

"In East L.A., bands come up from the garages, they play weddings, eventually getting sucked up into being Top Forty lounge cover bands. We said No thanks," stated Perez.

After foresaking that route, Los Lobos as teenagers became an acoustic outfit playing Norteño, traditional regional Mexican folk music. While other musicians were hocking their guitarrons and bajo sextos for Les Pauls and SG's, the Lobos were interpreting the music of their elders partly out of rebellion, partly out of respect for their heritage.

Crossing the tracks from East Los Angeles into West Los Angeles as a rock band notorized them worldwide. Los Lobos are now a global draw, having played festivals in Zurich and Berlin, making fevered stops in Hamburg, Frankfurt, Copenhagen, Denmark, Brussels, Belgium, and the U. K. Since that first Grammy Award-winning EP, the Lobos have made that trek twice while their luggage and roadcases have taken a sound beating.

Steve Berlin's assimilation into the band started with Los Lobos' close association with The Blasters and X. Frequently sitting in on the more R&B material, he soon found the more traditionally rooted material unsuspectingly complicated. After his first official rehearsal, the band sent him home with a C-90 full of border music to study up on. After diligent woodshedding and a musical re-think. not only did Berlin join the band full time, he has also served as co-producer of both Slash releases with T. Bone Burnett.

The name and music of Richie Valens invariably comes up whenever Los Lobos are interviewed. However, Perez cites Valens, the seventeen-year-old rock prodigy who died with Buddy Holly, more as an inspiration

"At 17, Richie Valens left quite a musical legacy. A fringe benefit is that he's part of our ethnic background."

Los Lobos were sought out by Valens' mother recently at a club in Northern California ("Everybody's legs turned into rubberbands") and have since remained in close contact. Presently Columbia Pictures is planning and negotiating a Richie Valens movie. The Lobos hope to be involved with the film's music in some way.

Crossing the tracks from East Los Angeles into West Los Angeles notorized the band worldwide.

If the first Slash Records EP, And A Time To Dance, represented Los Lobos' first decade together, their current LP, Will The Wolf Survive is the start of the next. Since its release, the Lobos are experiencing a fast and escalated evolution.

While the first EP was literally a set list taken from what Los Lobos had been doing up until the Slash deal, this new album is the beginning of a new and promising era. Album stations having luck with the opening track, "Don't Worry Baby," have yet to reap the benefits of the LP's real gem, the title track, "Will The Wolf Survive."

"Will The Wolf Survive" was written during the tail end of recording the up-until-then nameless LP. Slash needed an album title in order to construct their merchandising angle. The band members felt a little lost, feeling the album lacked a focusing theme and track. On the way home from a gig, Perez recalls, the band decided of course, to focus on the wolf. But how?

Remembering an article in National Geographic, Perez rushed home, rifled through the box of back issues before finding the article about a surviving, nearly extinct wolf colony. In the same magazine, in a separate article, was a photo taken in Arizona, picturing a cowboy sitting on a suitcase, leaving Arizona because of its stringent transient laws and unemployment.

"All of a sudden I realized, this guy is the wolf! There was the parallel. I called David (Hildago), he literally ran over, and I showed him the two pictures. He ran back home and a few hours later had a skeleton version of the song with the line "running across a frozen lake" scrawled across the envelope."

"It's a hopeful song. It's about the two strong arms of America, the work force that has kept us strong for over two hundred years, ending up like the guy in the picture, having to go somewhere else, having to move on to make a few bucks.

"It can also relate to the idea of the migrant worker who moves around with his family, following the crops in America.

"The last verse, the hopeful verse, is about us. It says there's something happening across this nation. There are bands doing only what they want, no matter what the powers that be want to hear, and there are people turning out to listen. I'm talking about bands like The Minutemen, The Replacements, Husker Du, REM.

"We don't have to dress up weird for the sake of success. If success comes, fine. What matters is that we're part of a movement that's honest, with music that comes from the heart." ■

ANALYSIS

Talk about cleaning house before the holidays! Can't recall when we've had eight debuts. SAWYER BROWN, who have been bobbing around with "Leona" for many weeks in Action Sides, debuts this week at #25. All three Top Adds - DON WILLIAMS, JOHNNY LEE and EARL THOMAS CONLEY - are chartbound. Since August 24th, the stats show all of the Top Adds made our Top 40 chart, and six of those went Top 10. Sixteen Certified singles made Top 10, six went mid-chart, and now there are six more making waves. JOHN SCHNEIDER had a Top Requested single for six weeks with "I've Been Around Enough To Know", but THE JUDDS "Why Not Me" stifled his achievement with an additional two weeks of requests. THE JUDDS at number one for four weeks and ALABAMA's "Fire" leaping over, held EDDIE RABBITT and JOHN CONLEE back from going all the way. Both deserved to be "top dog". The Gavin office will be closed from December 21st thru January 4th. We're looking forward to hearing from all of you January 7, 8 or 9th. May the Joy of the Season be yours throughout the New Year.

PROMOTIONS

BETTY HOLLARS
LISA SMITH

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

On Thursday, December 13, STEVE DAHL & GARRY MEIER took their WLS-CHICAGO show to the toy department of a local store, where they went on a $5,000 shopping spree. The $5,000, donated by a potato chip company, allowed STEVE & GARRY to purchase toys that they then delivered to the Ronald McDonald House annual Christmas party.Using wireless microphones, STEVE & GARRY had the freedom to wander up and down the aisles picking out the season's hottest new toys. Various guests stopped by the broadcast site throughout the show, the most famous being a jolly, bearded fellow wearing a red and white suit.

NO GUT, NO GLORY

Only if you weigh in at over 250 pounds could you qualify for the KIMN-Denver "Big Splash, Indoor Belly Flop Championship" contest. All 12 contestants are pictured above, along with KIMN's DANA LOGAN, PAXTON MILLS and DAN WALKER, who shouldn't be hard to find. The contestants were judged on the size of their splash, crowd appeal and form (?). Costumes were a big factor, as these large people donned everything from leotards and tu-tu's to Captain Splash with his super-hero costume and cape. The winners won various prizes ranging from a trip to San Diego to winning your weight in pasta!

RADIO'S FINEST HOUR

On December 3rd, JOEY REYNOLDS at WFIL-PHILADELPHIA began what mushroomed into a large successful radiothon to help alleviate the suffering in drought-stricken Ethiopia. JOEY declared that he wanted to stay on the air until WFIL could raise some famine relief money. He set $56,000 as the goal (the station's dial position is 560). There were no large corporate contributions, and the average pledge was $10, but after 37½ hours, $100,012 had been raised. As JOEY drove home that night, the residents of his community lined the streets and applauded, and held up signs that said "You Did A Good Job, Joey."

CONCERT CONNECTION

When Prince came to town, WZZU-RALEIGH, NC gave away tickets, rented a bus, gave everyone sweatshirts, dinner, and drinks, and headed off to the show on the WZZU Concert Coach. They also gave reports of the concert's goings on.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

The WASH/FM School Spirit Contest, which began October 12th and ended November 21st, became one of the biggest WASHINGTON radio promotions ever. WASH/FM was buried under close to 1 million entries in the quest to find the most spirited school in the DC metropolitan area. The contest began by announcing that the junior or senior high school with the most 3x5 cards handwritten with "WASH/FM Music Marathon, (school name), (Principal's name)," would win. The winning school had 405,963 cards, and won a WASH/FM sponsored school dance with the WASH air personalities emceeing and MATTHEW WILDER as the special guest performer.

ANALYSIS

Top 5 sales and requests for PAUL HARDCASTLE at the majority of our reporting stations could make it the best prospect for the top spot the first report of the new year. SHALAMAR is the only entry to qualify for "Certified" during the usually slow week of the year, but it's a strong contender despite any real competition. Going right to the top, making only two brief stops on the chart is JERMAINE JACKSON. Plan on seeing it at number one, two or three on our first chart of the new year, based on the trend it has developed in two weeks' time. KLYMAXX and NEW EDITION continue to move up without encountering very many obstacles along the way. Many of you have either frozen your charts this week or reported very little movement since last week. In spite of the slow season, debuting behind the SHALAMAR are four strong singles that should not be overlooked: NOLAN THOMAS' "Yo Little Brother" is #5 already at WTLC-Indianapolis, #9 at WANM-Tallahassee,, #14 at KRNB-Memphis, #19 at WQQK-Nashville, charted at WUSL/FM-Philadelphia, WDRQ-Detroit, WKTQ and WHTZ in New York, and on at KSOL/FM-San Francisco, WBLX-Mobile, WWDM/FM-Sumter, WYLD-New Orleans, WBMX/FM-Chicago, WSQV-Williamsport, FM102 in Sacramento, etc.; ROY AYERS is top 20 at WBLZ-Cincinnati, KSOL/FM-San Francisco, KRNB-Memphis, and charted at WTLC-Indianapolis, along with airplay and adds at many other stations; BILLY OCEAN already top 10 at WBLZ-Cincinnati, WTLC-Indianpolis and WLUM-Milwaukee; RONNIE LAWS making moves in Philly, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Nashville, Detroit and Chicago. Well, it's been a great year with lots of changes and, we hope, improvements. Thanks for all the nice comments on the new look and new layout of the Report and look for more in the new year of '85. Happy Holidays!

Betty

PERSONAL PICKS

DAVID LEE ROTH-California Girls (Warner Bros.)
Surprise,surprise...this version remains true to the Beach Boys 1965 classic. I expected just the opposite. Roth tosses in a couple of screams and shouts as only he can and delivers them at just the right intervals. If anyone can resurrect this teen anthem this is the man. Carl Wilson and Christopher Cross assist on backing vocals and do a super job. If ever a song was made to be a video, this is it!

"Age Of Consent"-Bronski Beat (London/MCA)
Despicable,contemptuous lyric set to superior, finely conceived music. This English trio of limp-wristed boys are among the leading gay wavers in their home country. And they're currently the rage in the dance scene Stateside with obvious appeal to A) those who don't listen to lyric and get all worked up in the swirl of danceable electronics and gossamer falsettos, or B) think that the message belongs in the music. Let's dance. It's a shame that some wonderful music must be so lyrically radical. If you get their drift, even the Gershwin's IT AIN'T NECESSARILY SO is rendered in a new light.

SANTA. THE MAN.

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the land, Not a creature was stirring except me... the all-night man. Sitting alone playing the hits, drinking coffee, reading Gavin; Thinking about what a lonely Christmas I'm havin'. When suddenly from outside I heard a loud crash!

A man lay in the snow wearing a red suit with a white sash. It was Him. Santa. The Man. The Big S. The reindeer were ok, but he was a mess. In his long beard and hair he had mistletoe and holly. He looked like the Ayatollah (only jolly). He said, "Nice landing, Rudolph. Guess the nose ain't what it used to be. This is a radio station. That's an antenna. They don't have a chimney."

"Excuse me," I said, "Would you like to come in and...well...listen to my show?" "Why not?" said Santa, "It might be good for a ho ho ho."

AND WHAT A SHOW IT WAS!

I was on. I was clever. My crunch lines had crunch. I was charming. I was funny. My punch lines had punch. I played the best records. My segues were tight. He laughed; he sang; we stayed up all night. He said, "You've got it ki You sound good. You're my kind of guy. What' your Christmas wish? Make the limit the sky." I said, "My career could use a little help, and you're just the guy to spark it. How about afternoon drive in a top ten market?" "Piece of cake." said Santa, "Is that all you want from n I could make you O.M., M.D., G.M., or P.D." I said,"I just want the same as every disc jock I want my listeners to be happy with me." San said, "You got it. I'll see what I can do." So I gave him a Gavin and said, "This is for you." He said, "Will you do something for me?" With h eyes glistening "Tell all my friends in radio th St. Nick is listening." All at once he jumped fr his chair, Hopped into his sleigh, and took off through the air. As he flew overhead I could faintly hear...Ho Ho Ho! Merry Christmas! Anc
